Big Red Band Provides Color And Entertainment

ED KNOB
BAND DIRECTOR

Providing an enjoyable mixture of color and entertainment during the pre-game and halftime ceremonies of all Western home football games is The Western Band, under the direction of Edward A. Knob.

Smartly outfitted in red, white and blue uniforms, the Big Red Band weekly entertains thousands of Hilltopper football fans in the Western Stadium.

In preparing for a halftime show which may last only 15 or 20 minutes, the 100 students connected with the band put in a full week of concentrated practice.

Each show has its beginning as a thematic idea and is built around the theme. According to Knob, ideas for shows may occur at any time of the year, and for this reason he records these ideas in a notebook for future reference during the football season.

With a definite theme in mind, the next step is the selection of music that will effectively carry out this theme. Then comes the task of arranging the music to suit the theme, the situation, and the band. All arrangements for the Western Band are done by Knob.

When the arrangements are completed, the music is duplicated and distributed to the band members and rehearsals can begin.

The next step in organizing a halftime show is the plotting of various formations the band will use during the show. Although the nationwide trend in modern band is toward less movement and more music, formations are still necessary. For this reason the music takes on added importance and Knob allows the music to suggest the formations that will be used.

Naturally, every member of the band must know these formations, just as every football player must know the plays, so every band member is given a chart of each formation and each transitional movement. It is not at all uncommon for each member to have as many as nine different formations to learn for each show.

When all the planning is completed, the band next practices for the show, often as much as five hours a week. While the 86-piece band rehearses its music and movements, the Toppettes, along with head twirler Dennis Burchett of Cookeville, Tenn., work out routines to fit the show.

By Saturday afternoon, The Western Band is ready for Drum Major Jerry Dozer of Central City to blow the whistle that will begin the halftime show.

The theme of this week's show is "Things To Come," and as Marc Ball does the announcing, the band will explore the earth, the sea, and the atmosphere, using such formations as an oil well, diving bell, and a rocket ship.

But the conclusion of one week's show does not mean the end of work for the band members. Monday morning they will begin work on a show for next week, and plans are already being formulated for bigger and better shows for next season.

WESTERN KENTUCKY STATE COLLEGE

Long recognized as one of the most beautiful college campuses in the United States, Western Kentucky State College is located on and around the big hill overlooking the city of Bowling Green, Kentucky (population 32,000). The central portion of the campus, known as College Heights, commands an impressive view of the Barren River Valley and surrounding hills, and may be seen for miles from the approaches to the city. Embracing an area of 141 acres, the college campus has thirty-six beautiful buildings. A farm of 65 acres adjoining the campus provides instructional facilities in agriculture. Another farm of 600 acres is maintained for production and research purposes.

Conceived in 1906 for the sole purpose of teacher training, Western now offers three undergraduate degrees and the master's degree with course offerings in twenty-four different departments. On June 1, 1961, the Graduate Division began offering graduate curricula leading to advanced certificates for teachers and school leaders based upon the twenty-four hours beyond the master's degree. In addition, pre-professional work leading to entrance in professional and technical colleges for advanced study is also offered. The absorption of Bowling Green College of Commerce on June 1, 1963, now allows Western to offer students a wide variety of business and commercial courses leading to degrees in those areas of study.

With enrollment figures rapidly approaching the 6,000 mark, Western is currently engaged in the greatest building program in the history of the college. The opening of the fall semester saw the occupation of an 11-story dormitory for men and the $2.9 million Academic-Athletic Building. The Academic-Athletic Building, which will house the E. A. Diddle Arena, with a maximum seating capacity of 13,000, plus a smaller gymnasium, swimming pool, thirty master classrooms, and a portable stage, will be officially dedicated on December 7, 1963. The Hilltoppers will host the Vanderbilt Commodores for the dedication game in the arena.

Other physical changes are evident almost everywhere on the campus. A five-story dormitory for women is presently under construction near the Kentucky Building. Western's Heating Plant is being expanded and improved to meet the increasing needs of a growing college. The Paul L. Garrett Student Center is scheduled to be reconstructed and enlarged this year, and structural changes will more than triple the size of the present building. Plans are being completed for the reconstruction and enlargement of the Health and Physical Education Building into an outstanding new library. Even more impressive are plans for a $1,800,000 20-story classroom building to be erected on the summit of 'The Hill.' When completed, the edifice will be visible for miles and an observation platform on the roof will provide a breath-taking view of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Western Stadium overlooks a landscape of unusual beauty, ranging to the south and west. Crowned along the campus drive by a majestic colennade, the football arena has a seating capacity of 5,500.

In addition to football, a complete schedule of intercollegiate athletics is played in basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and golf at Western.

Always striving toward the goal of educational excellence, Western Kentucky State College is proud of the progress being made at all levels in the interest of better education.

HILLTOPPER COACHES

NICK DENES

Hilltopper head coach NICK DENES is in a class by himself among Kentucky coaches.

Not only has he proved himself to be a successful college coach, but he is the only man in Kentucky to have guided teams to state high school championship in three different sports.

Denes' Corbin High School team won the state basketball crown in 1936; his Louisville Male High footballers were the state's No. 1 team in 1951, and he led Male's track teams to an unprecedented seven state championships.

He has won "Coach of the Year" honors twice, one in the high school ranks and once as a college tutor. He was the top choice among Kentucky high school coaches following the championship football season at Male and was voted the Ohio Valley Conference's biggest coaching honor in 1961 for leading the Hilltoppers to a third-place league finish after his team had been picked to finish dead last.

He was head coach at Corbin from 1929 through 1936, at the University of Tennessee Martin Branch in 1937-38, and was freshman coach at Western in 1939. He was line coach at Male from 1940 through 1948 and was promoted to head coach there in 1949. He resigned as football coach after the 1953 season, concentrating his efforts on his job as athletic director and track coach. He took over the reins at Western in 1957.

In six seasons Denes' Hilltopper teams have won 27, lost 24 and tied 2. His overall record—covering all sports through a 33-year coaching career—is a remarkable 467 victories, 146 losses and 10 ties.

FRANK GRIFFIN, a native of Ashland, has coached Western's linemen since 1948.

He was a standout end at Western just prior to World War II and joined Western's staff as trainer in 1946 after a five-year hitch in the U.S. Navy.

Griffin is a strong believer in conditioning and drives his linemen hard to keep them in top shape. Thus he has no qualms about demanding, and usually getting, a maximum effort.

He also coaches the Western golf team in the spring and has led the Topper linksmen to six OVC championships.

FRANK GRIFFIN

Backfield coach TURNER ELROD is one of the finest all-around athletes ever to wear Western's Scarlet and White. He starred in football, basketball and baseball on the Hilltop from 1927 through 1931.

A veteran Kentucky high school coach, Elrod joined the Western staff in 1949 after serving as athletic director and assistant football coach at Barrett High in Henderson, Ky.

He stresses fundamentals in his coaching and delights in bringing out the individual talents from his backs. He also does a major share of the Hilltoppers' scouting.

TURNER ELROD

JIMMY FEIX has the best of credentials for coaching the Western quarterbacks.

He was a Little All-American himself in 1952, quarterbacking Western to a 9-1 record, including a 34-19 victory over Arkansas State in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind. He was ranked among the top passers in the nation during his final two collegiate seasons.

Feix returned to Western in 1957 after four years of service as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force. He served as a student assistant coach that first year while completing the requirements for the Master of Arts degree. He was named to his present post the following year.

Cheerleader And Majorette Clinic Being Held On Campus Today By YMCA

Cheerleaders and majorettes from approximately 100 schools are on campus today for the annual Cheerleader and Majorette Clinic sponsored by the state YMCA. This marks the first year the majorette clinic has been held at Western.

In addition to the organized cheerleading squads, the YMCA is also extending the clinic to include approximately 300 students who are not members of an organized cheering group, but who are interested in cheerleading.

Serving as judges in the cheerleading competition are Western's own varsity cheerleaders.

The students arrived on campus this morning about 9 a.m. and have spent the morning competing for the nine trophies which will be awarded during the halftime ceremonies of today's game between the Western Hilltoppers and the Morehead Eagles.

Trophies will be awarded in the following classes: varsity cheerleading squads, junior varsity cheerleading squads, majorette corps, and student cheering groups.

This afternoon the students are guests of the college at the Western—Morehead clash.

Western Expansion Plans Swinging Into High Gear

Expansion, construction, remodeling, enlargement—these and many similar words have been given quite a workout during the past few years on the Hill, but how else can one describe the tremendous progress that is constantly taking place at Western.

No doubt the two most publicized buildings on campus are Central Hall, an 11-story men's dormitory; and the Academic-Athletic Building. Both buildings went into use with the opening of the fall semester in September.

But impressive as they may be, these buildings are only two major parts of the overall expansion program now in progress on campus.

At the present time the college Heating Plant is undergoing reconstruction by Ward Engineering Co. of Louisville. The main feature of this improvement is a new boiler designed to deliver 52,000 pounds of steam per hour.

Also under construction is a warehouse addition to Western's Maintenance Service Building on the Russellville Road. Rogers Lumber Co., Auburn, began work on the concrete block structure October 21.

Another change will be the enlargement and reconstruction of the Physical Education Building into a library. The new library will have 70,000 square feet of floor space and will provide shelf space for approximately one-half million volumes — about four times the present library space available.

The master plan calls for the present library to be remodeled into administrative offices and classrooms.

Reconstruction and enlargement of the Paul L. Garrett Student Center calls for expansion on the north end of the building, the inclusion of a second floor across the central portion of the building, and the addition of a third floor. The third floor will contain a ballroom to accommodate 800 persons. The building will be approximately three times its present size when completed.

A five-story dormitory for women is currently under construction on the Kentucky Building grounds at a right angle to State Hall. The approximate cost of the building will be $800,000. It will house 230 women and will contain a sandwich shop.

Soon to be under construction is a 20-story classroom building, to be erected on the highest point of the campus at the rear of the Administration Building. The approximate cost of the project will be $1,800,000.

Plans call for the edifice to contain over 100 classrooms and offices. When completed the building will be two and one half times as tall as the water tower and will have an observation platform on the roof.

Three ways to quarterback the most important drive of the day —your drive home

1. Don't buck the line of traffic, stay in it. Fancy open field running doesn't pay on the highway.
2. When dusk falls and your visibility is limited, slow down and turn on your lights. What you can't see can hurt you.
3. Don't try to beat the clock by speeding. Remember, when time runs out on the highway, everybody loses.
